

A Year In Review

Thanks to participation from members like you, CDC OneLab Network has accomplished a great deal in its inaugural year. As we look forward to the future of the network, we'd like to reflect on the past year as well as gather your feedback. Click the button below to share a comment highlighting your experience with the OneLab Network, or what you would like to see from the network in the future.

Feedback

Launch

In February 2021, the OneLab Network was launched as a collaborative network between laboratory training professionals and CDC to meet laboratory learners' most urgent COVID-19 education and training needs and collectively support rapid, large-scale emergency responses.

Response

To address priority needs, OneLab compiled 100+ free job aids and trainings, with new resources released on a rolling basis.

Future

The network is the first of eight components in CDC's OneLab™ initiative to bridge, train, and sustain a capacity-building community among laboratory professionals. To facilitate this ongoing learning community, a three-day virtual OneLab Summit will be held in Spring 2022. Additionally, OneLab REACH™ – a new CDC learning management system customized for laboratory professionals – will launch in early 2022.

Assessment

In April 2021, the OneLab Network presented findings from a COVID-19 training needs assessment based on members' 372 survey responses and 144 excerpts from 6 focus groups. The prioritized list of training topics guides the development of new education and training resources.

Connect

OneLab hosted a variety of live, virtual training events on topics identified by members as priority needs, including:

- COVID-19: Leading in Times of Crisis
- Supply Chain Lessons Learned and Q&A
- Life of a Test Method
- Principles in Plain Language: Communication for Laboratory Professionals

Your Impact

To share your suggestions for the future of OneLab Network – including educational needs, webinar topics, or general feedback – please send to the suggestion box below.

We'd love to have you join us next year.
Click here to learn more or join today!